

WOOL GROWERS OF TEXAS ASK WAR PAYMENTS

Texas wool men have appealed to the secretary of war, Newton D. Baker, for more than $1,000,000 which they claim is due them for wool they sold the government during the war in addition to the compensation they have already received. According to information that has come to El Paso from Washington, Congressman Charles E. McNamara of El Paso is representing wool men around San Angelo in their claim.

Reports from Washington say that the wool situation in the United States, particularly in the west, is very serious due to the competition of wool from the Argentine. Wool from the Argentine is selling in America for 2 cents a pound while the American wool growers say it is costing them 2 cents a pound to market their product.

There now is no storage in the United States for 500,000 pounds of wool. Of this year's clip 55 percent remains unsold.
